

Delta Air Lines® and SuperShuttle partner up to Share Rides and Earn Miles
SkyMiles® members who book a ride online with SuperShuttle can earn SkyMiles miles

PHOENIX—(December 1, 2008) SuperShuttle and Delta Air Lines announced today a partnership to reward SkyMiles® members with miles if they book a shared ride on SuperShuttle to and from their home, office, or hotel and any one of the 29 airports in 24 cities served by SuperShuttle in the U.S.

How it works:

SuperShuttle will offer SkyMiles miles for customers booking airport rides online at www.supershuttle.com. SuperShuttle customers will earn 50 miles in each direction for SuperShuttle.

This is the fourth airline that SuperShuttle has entered into a frequent flyer marketing partnership. SuperShuttle also offers US Airways Dividend miles, Northwest Airlines WorldPerks miles, and Frontier Airlines Early Returns miles for reservations booked online.

“SuperShuttle is the only truly national airport shared-ride service in the country and we are pleased to be in partnership with Delta Air Lines who serves so many of our customers, said Ken Testani, senior vice-president of marketing and sales for SuperShuttle International. “We believe that offering frequent flyer miles is not only an additional incentive to book SuperShuttle reservations online, but also a reward for customers who know that sharing a SuperShuttle ride to and from the airport saves on gas, means fewer cars on the road and ultimately fewer greenhouse gas emissions.”
